Newsware™

Letter From The Editor:

Welcome to Triware Network Systems' ninth monthly Newsware, bringing you the latest in Information Technology. This month's featured topic is digital information security, an increasingly controversial subject that we've only partially covered in past issues. As the world becomes a digital one, IT professionals have been left with the nearly impossible task of maintaining and protecting digital information. Again, please feel free to e-mail me with helpful links, upcoming events, topics you'd like to learn more about and questions for our engineers. Thanks for reading.

Digital Information Security

Our society has spent hundreds of billions of dollars in the last few decades to convert data and images into digital form. By now, everything and anything with the least bit of important is available in digital form – or will be if it isn't already. But how secure is our digital information? Is our digital information protected from natural disasters, computer hackers and human errors? The answer is a resounding “no.”
