

Triware Network Systems

Newsware™

Letter From The Editor:

Welcome to Triware Network Systems' eleventh monthly Newsware, bringing you the latest in Information Technology. This month's featured topic is the need for a Business Continuity Plan. The question is no longer whether a disaster will happen but when it will happen. And the answer is: when we're least prepared. Again, please feel free to e-mail us with helpful links, upcoming events, topics you'd like to learn more about and questions for our engineers. We plan on renovating our newsletter in the next few months, adding features that you, as readers, have suggested. So, please, keep your eye out for future issues. Thanks for reading.

Business Continuity Plan

According to Gartner Group, an industry consulting firm, two out of five companies that experience a catastrophic event or prolonged outage end up shutting down for good. And of those that do, one out of three goes out of business within two years. That means a full 60 percent of all organizations affected by a major disaster go out of business for various reasons, including the cost of trying to resume operations
